DISTRICT PROGRESS

In November of 2012, our community passed a Bond Issue to replace Ashland Middle School, our two oldest elementary schools and McDowell Auditorium. Our community enjoyed a closure ceremony for McDowell Auditorium, as well as an opening ceremony for the Robert M. and Janet L. Archer Auditorium on April 19, 2015. Each building was closed with a celebration of the learning that had occurred over the years. Our new buildings will champion the same dedication to learning for all children.

To complete our construction segment, the Ashland City School District opened a new elementary school this year, as well as, a new middle school. We are also in the process of completing a renovation project that will house our bus garage, maintenance facility and our administrative offices at a central location. As we conclude our construction projects, students, staff and community are glowing with Arrow Pride!

THE SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE will be offered a multi-year contract with a salary competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications, which includes a comprehensive benefits package. Treasurer/Auditor experience is preferred.

About the Community

The Ashland region has many wonderful attributes: it is traditional yet modern; friendly yet respectful; and just far enough away from the frustrations of urban centers yet close enough to enjoy their benefits. Ashland County is the center of many regional attractions. Rolling farmland and gentle wooded hills dominate the landscape. Follow SR 60 through Mohican country and enjoy the many specialty shops, horseshows, ice-cream socials, classic car shows, antique tractor and engine shows, farmers markets, and free band shell concerts making life especially pleasant.

Ashland City, the county seat of Ashland County with a population of approximately 21,000, is home to Ashland University and Ashland Theological Seminary.

The University is one of Ashland County's largest employers along with many other diversified businesses. In addition, the city is home to the University Hospitals Samaritan Medical Center, which hosts more than 70 active physicians and has emergency and clinical services to serve everyone's medical needs. Ashland City has a daily newspaper, radio station, and many other amenities of larger cities all the while maintaining a small town atmosphere. Located along Ohio's growing Interstate-71 corridor, Ashland is an easy commute to Cleveland, Akron-Canton, Mansfield, and Columbus.
